ODD FELLOWS
WILL NOT MEET
HERE IN 1935*Convention Is Transferred to Reading,
Official Order
Reveals.*2,000 DELEGATES
WERE EXPECTED

Gettysburg has lost its largest 1935 convention.

Upon his return to Gettysburg from Philadelphia, Tuesday evening, J. E. Snyder, South street, who was instrumental in having the grand lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, select this community for its 1935 convention, announced that the convention city had been changed to Reading.

Mr. Snyder was in Philadelphia from Sunday, attending the semi-annual sessions of the grand lodge. At the Monday evening session, discussion of the 1934 convention city was brought up by state officers, the local delegate, who is grand guardian of the grand lodge, said.

Official Order
The state officers said they had attended the annual sessions of the grand encampment and allied organizations here in October, and found the hotel accommodations "inadequate."

Mr. Snyder said he endeavored to argue against state officers changing the convention city, but was unsuccessful.

Frank Shannon, grand secretary of the grand lodge, has sent out the following notices notifying subordinate lodges of the change in the convention city:

"Circumstances have arisen which make necessary a choice, other than that selected in June, 1934, for the next meeting of the grand lodge; therefore, please be advised that the next annual session will be held in the city of Reading, commencing with Tuesday, June 11, 1935."

Gettysburg was chosen as the 1935 convention city at the 1934 meeting in Stroudsburg. Mr. Snyder swung the choice to Gettysburg practically single-handed.

Expected 2,000
The grand lodge sessions are usually attended by between 1,500 and 2,000 delegates and visitors.

G. Will Henry, of Penbrook, Dauphin county, grand master of the state Odd Fellows, presided at the semi-annual sessions in Philadelphia.

Past grand and grand lodge degrees were conferred at the meetings, and officers for 1935 were nominated. These officers will be elected in March and take office at the next session of the grand lodge. The semi-annual meeting closed with a banquet, Tuesday evening.

At Age of 77; Hold Funeral on Thursday.

Mrs. Jennie A. Wickey, 77, wife of W. O. Wickey, died suddenly at her home in Littlestown, from a heart attack Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock.

She was a daughter of the late William and Catherine (Myers) Hartman. Surviving are her husband and four children, Leroy H. Wickey, Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Rosa Bixler, Dr. N. J. Gould Wickey, and Luke T. Wickey, all of Washington, D. C., six grandchildren.

Mrs. Carver was the last of the family of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Smith, and was the widow of Absalom Carver, who died a number of years ago. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. J. C. Wentz, Shiremanstown, Mrs. Paup, with whom she resided, and Mrs. William Smith, East Berlin R. D.; four grandchildren; six great-grandchildren, and two great-great-grandchildren.

Turkeys To Be Higher

Gettysburgians will pay more for their Thanksgiving dinners this year if they contemplate having turkey as the principal item, according to present indications. Local poultry dealers said that the average price for turkey now is 28 cents per pound. The price ranges generally from 25 to 30 cents a pound. Last year the top price, generally, was 25 cents.

Turkey raising throughout the state has declined generally this year, and it was reported by one observer here that the decline in production in Adams county might be as high as 20 per cent. Another reason for the rise in price is that supplies of other poultry has been reduced, and that meats and foodstuffs generally have found a higher price level.

OPEN DRIVE TO ASSIST SCOUTS*Solicitors Start Canvass of Town; $700 Needed Here
For Next Year.

Inspired by an address by Ray P. Zaner, scout executive of the York-Adams area, a group of Gettysburg businessmen today launched a campaign to raise $700 for Gettysburg Boy Scout activities during 1935.

Mr. Zaner addressed a group of solicitors at the home of Dr. W. E. Tilberg, local scout executive, Tuesday evening, preparatory to the opening of the three-day campaign.

Mr. Zaner said Boy Scout activities open to boys "the romance, adventure and doors to perpetual joy, by reviving again the lore of the frontier and the campfire."

The speaker also pointed out that "idle time is dangerous for youth as well as the adult, but particularly the youth, teeming with energy to be expended. The fact that scouts are kept busy and occupied doing worthwhile things accounts for their absence from our courts and our penal institutions. Scouting drills boys for good citizenship, and the campaign opening here should have the support of everyone."

Forty-two businessmen are assisting with the campaign.

Report Local Jail Breaker
Shot, Killed

After William Parsons, colored, a former member of C. C. C. camp No. 2 on the battlefield, was placed on probation for six months by Judge Donald P. McPherson in court this morning, it was learned that Leoyne Freeman, also colored, of Philadelphia, who broke jail with Parsons here on July 3 and was never recaptured, was shot and killed by a Philadelphia policeman recently.

According to reports received by Sheriff John C. Wible, Freeman was in the act of robbing a store when he was shot and killed.

Freeman, the sheriff said, was the ring leader in the escape from the Adams county jail. He was awaiting trial on a charge of aggravated assault and battery and robbery.

Parsons was captured in Philadelphia two days after the break from jail, and was later sentenced to serve four months. This morning he was placed on probation for six months.

Freeman and Parsons were in the jail yard for exercise on the morning of July 3, when they climbed to the roof of the cell block and then gained the wall around the jail yard. From the wall they climbed down a tree outside the yard and made their escape.

The sixth and last session of the school will be held outdoors on Friday, November 30, the place to be announced later.

NATIVE NAMED
STATE SENATOR
IN CASPER, WYO.*Rev. Charles S. Bream, College Graduate,
Defeats Former
Speaker.*PRESIDENT OF WESTERN SYNOD

The Rev. Charles S. Bream, native of Adams county, graduate of Gettysburg college and a former student of the Lutheran theological seminary here, has taken another step forward in the political field in Wyoming.

The Rev. Mr. Bream was elected state senator from the Casper, Wyoming, district in the recent general election. He was elected on the democratic ticket, his platform heralding "Help Roosevelt and the New Deal bring benefits to Wyoming."

After concluding his studies at the local seminary the Rev. Mr. Bream assumed the pastorate of a Lutheran church at Albion, Indiana, and was ordained by the synod of Northern Indiana, in October, 1913. He also served pastorates at Middlebury, Indiana; served in the Y. M. C. A. during the war; Pulaske, Illinois, high school, where he taught English and Latin and built a new church in that community. He then went to Lincoln, Nebraska, and then to Casper, Wyoming. In 1927, as pastor of Grace English Lutheran church, where he is still serving.

President of Synod
Recently the Rev. Mr. Bream was elected president of the Rocky Mountain synod of the United Lutheran Church in America.

In 1930 he was induced to run for the state legislature and was elected, the first democrat to attain that post in 20 years. In 1932 he was re-elected, winning his seat for the second time by an increase of 2,000 votes over his first election.

This year he was prevailed upon to seek the office of state senator and was elected over Marvin Bishop, a native of Casper, who had served four terms in the state legislature and was speaker of the house for one year. The Rev. Mr. Bream polled 6,002 votes to Bishop's 4,551.

The late Harvey D. Bream, father of the Rev. Mr. Bream, was a native of Adams county and resided in this county until 1924, when he moved west after the death of Mrs. Bream.

Urged For Governor
The Wyoming legislature is in session 40 days each two years and the Rev. Mr. Bream proposes to commute from Cheyenne, the state capital, to Casper for his Sunday day services. State senators serve four years.

Several factions in Wyoming are urging the Rev. Mr. Bream to seek the office of governor, but the former local resident has declined, declaring that his pastorate "comes first."

The Rev. Mr. Bream married the former Miss Margaret Lott, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William H. Lott, of Gettysburg, in 1913.

Mrs. Annie Tate

Sunday School Class

Mrs. Annie Tate's Sunday school class presented her with a gift at a meeting of the class, Tuesday evening, at the home of Mrs. Florence Grider. The occasion was Mrs. Tate's birthday anniversary. Two other members of the class, Miss Jessie Myers and Mrs. Grider also observed their birthday anniversaries and were presented with cakes, decorated with candies, by the class.

Miss Margaret McMillan read "Birthday Thoughts," written by her late mother some time ago.

The committee in charge of the meeting comprised Mrs. Grider, Mrs. Tate, Miss Myers, Miss Nellie Lentz and Mrs. Merrow.

G-Burg—F. & M.

Reserve seat tickets for the Gettysburg-F. and M. football game, Thanksgiving Day, at Lancaster, are moving fast. C. E. Bilheimer, athletic director at the college, said today.

Franklin and Marshall has disposed of most of their tickets and this morning requested that Gettysburg return their unsold tickets at the earliest convenience because of the demand in Lancaster for the pastebats.

Mr. Bilheimer urged Gettysburgians who propose to attend the game to secure their tickets as soon as possible, at the Plank gymnasium or at the Britcher and Bender drug store.

Goat Eats Bric-a-Brac
In Store Show Window

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 21 (AP).—No bull in a china shop could have created any more effective havoc than did a goat in downtown show windows Tuesday.

While gawking motorists tried to extricate themselves from a traffic snarl she created at a busy intersection, the goat ducked up an alley and entered a furniture store.

After nibbling tasseled divans and bric-a-brac she made her way to a show window and nimbly leaped up for a view.

Employees shooed desperately, too desperately. The goat circled a handsome cellolette laden with fragile glassware, leaped to the centerpiece of a cozy living room setting and bunched herself, let sail through the plate-glass window.

Groggy, but undaunted, she took the entrance arway in one leap and crashed through another glass to gain momentary security in the other show window.

Composure gone, she made for the third, but an employee barred the way and back she went to the interior of the store, only to be corralled in a maze of breakfast sets, and become a meek captive of police and volunteer goat herders.

BEER, LIQUOR*Licensed Dispensers

zels, Cabbage, Etc.,
Free.*PROSECUTIONS
BEING HINTED

Attention of hotels, restaurants, tap rooms and roadhouses in Gettysburg and Adams county where beer and liquor are sold is being called to a provision of the Pennsylvania liquor control act which prohibits the serving of free lunches, furnishing door prizes and offering other inducements to customers to buy beer and liquor.

The liquor control act provides, among other things, "That it shall be unlawful for any license holder to offer or give anything of value to induce purchase of liquor or any other purpose whatsoever in connection with the sale of such liquor."

The penalty for such violation is a fine of $300 or six months imprisonment, or both, at the discretion of the court.

Many Give Food
In most of the places licensed for the sale of beer exclusively and those licensed to sell both beer and liquors in Gettysburg and Adams county, the practice of furnishing pretzels, cabbage, peanuts and sometimes lunches is common, according to reports. Such practice, it is pointed out, is contrary to the provision of the liquor control act cited above.

Most of Adams county's beer and liquor dispensing places are said to be strictly adhering to the closing hours provided by the act. The law provides that no beer or liquor shall be sold after 2 a. m. nor before 7 a. m. on week-days, and after midnight, Saturday, until 7 a. m., Monday.

According to reports, violations of the free lunch provision of the act in some instances and the closing time section are said to be flagrant, and wholesale prosecutions are being planned.

FOR SIXTY DAYS

A verdict of $12,000 in favor of Maurice C. Bowers, of Huntington township, was returned by a jury in court at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the damage action brought by the countian against M. P. Gaglione and J. N. O'Boyle, both of Sunbury. The action resulted from an accident at East Berlin, February 13, in which Bowers was seriously injured. The jury deliberated more than four hours.

While Judge Donald P. McPherson was waiting for the jury in the $50,000 damage action brought by Maurice C. Bowers of Huntington township, against M. P. Gaglione and J. N. O'Boyle, of Sunbury, to return its verdict this afternoon, the court sentenced Charles C. Carey, Gettysburg R. D., to serve 60 days in the Adams county jail and to pay a fine of $200 and costs on a charge of operating a car while under the influence of liquor.

The jury in the last civil action tried at the November term began its deliberations shortly after 10 o'clock this morning, after receiving its charge from Judge McPherson. Closing pleas of counsel were given late Tuesday afternoon.

The court issued processes this afternoon for William McMillan, William McCauslin and Albert Heare.

Alias Subpoena
J. L. Williams, Esq., was appointed master in the divorce action brought by Lula G. (Hartdagen) McCans against Harry McCans. An alias subpoena was awarded by the court in the divorce action of Thomas Hay Nixon against Annette Pauline (Finmeran) Nixon.

L. O. Gladfelter, charged with desertion and non-support was ordered to renew his bond and comply with the original order of court which required him to pay his wife $3 a week for the maintenance of five children.

Civil Actions Postponed
Due to a technicality, the civil action brought by S. F. Snyder, of Gettysburg, against Dr. W. C. Waltemyer, also of Gettysburg, failed to come to trial this morning. The case was not argued before it was set down for trial at this term of court, it was explained.

John P. Butt, Esq., represented Snyder and Raymond P. Topper, Esq., was counsel for Dr. Waltemyer.

Before the Snyder-Waltemyer jury was dismissed, the court directed it to return three verdicts.

In the trespass action for damages, brought by Guy Sentz, individual, and as father and next friend of Guy Sentz, Jr., of Gettysburg, against Carl F. Ketterman, of near Gettysburg, a verdict of $135 for Sentz and $7 for his son was returned.

In the trespass action brought by Charles R. Hartlaub as father and next friend of Charles Ellwood Hartlaub against E. Romaine Shue, a verdict awarding $135 damages to Hartlaub and $5 damages to his son was directed by the court.

Assumpsit Action
In the assumpsit action brought by Anna E. Wentz and C. G. Reese against Charles F. McCaffrey a verdict of $65 in favor of the plaintiffs was directed. The case was before the court on an appeal from a justice of the peace.

New York, Nov. 21 (AP).—Chairman McCormack (Dem., Mass.) of the house committee on un-American activities mapped Tuesday night a sweeping investigation of a reported plan to establish a fascist dictatorship in the United States with Major General Smedley D. Butler, U. S. M. C. (retired), at its head.

After hearing the retired marine corps officer's story of reports that Gerald P. MacGuire, of the New York brokerage firm of Grayson M. P. Murphy and company, proposed that he head a group of 500,000 in a fascist march on Washington to take over the reins of government, and Mr. MacGuire's denial, Representative McCormack said:

"We have heard nothing today that would cause us to change our opinion of General Butler's 100 per cent Americanism and patriotism.

Will Call for Records

"We are going to get to the bottom of this matter and we are going to call witnesses and records that will bring out the truth—whatever that may be."

After General Butler had finished his testimony, Representative Dickstein (Dem., New York), vice-chairman of the committee, said: "From present indications, Butler has the evidence. He's not making serious charges unless he has something to back them up."

Denies Discussing Plan

Mr. MacGuire was before the committee for two hours after General Butler finished his story. He told the committee that he knew nothing of any fascist plot to set up a dictatorship and denied that he had ever discussed any such matter with the retired general.

He told the committee that General Butler was a friend of his and that he had discussed military affairs with him in a general sense about six months ago. It was at that time that the basis for the Butler story is said to have been laid.

Suggest Publicity as Aim

Mr. MacGuire suggested that "General Butler must be seeking publicity."

"How about a pacifist stunt?" he asked. "Think that one over. The general can't get any more publicity out of big army and navy talk. There are too many in on that now."

The broker said he could not understand the origin of the reports. He said General Butler recently had asked his opinion on lending his (Butler's) name to veterans' organizations.

"I sent word back to the general to stay on his farm and have a good time, that he had earned one. I told him I thought the veterans' organizations merely wanted to use his name as a means of getting money, members or something," Mr. MacGuire said.

Attorney Accompanied Broker
Mr. MacGuire was accompanied by his attorney, Norman L. Marks, and his brother, William MacGuire, of Atlanta. The latter was not called as a witness.

Mr. Marks, just before accompanying Mr. MacGuire into the committee room, said:

"We consider this thing at the present time as a publicity stunt on the part of General Butler."

Broker to Return Today

As MacGuire finished his denials, the committee ordered him to reappear for additional questioning today and Representative Dickstein promised "we will have some men here with bigger names than Butler's before this is over with."

Two Young Bandits
Get $2,000 Bank Loot

Bethlehem, Nov. 21 (AP).—Two young men held up the west side branch of the Wilbur trust company today, pointed pistols at two clerks, and escaped with cash estimated at between $2,000 and $3,000. The automobile in which they fled was believed to be a stolen machine. The robbers walked into the bank shortly after the opening hour when no one but the clerks was there and when the vault, usually closed, was opened to permit the tellers to work in it.

While one robber stood outside the grill training his pistol on the clerks, the other forced his way into the vault. He scooped up the money, placed it in a bag and then backed to where his companion waited. Both dashed into their car and escaped.

Uncle Sam Does Not Expect
To Collect Many War Debts;
13 Billion Due in December

Washington, Nov. 21 (AP).—The United States Tuesday went through its formal but futile semi-annual practice of drafting "please remit" notes to European war debtors—a gesture that will bring in only a fraction of one per cent of the $13,000,000,000 owed.

Confronted by an undeclared but effective world-wide moratorium on repayment of the billions borrowed by war-stricken nations the treasury and state department nevertheless are going through the routine motions of forwarding the debit notes to keep the record straight. Only Finland has escaped default.

Formal Notes To Be Sent

Brief, formal communications will be dispatched within the next few days to the ambassadors and ministers of 12 European nations, notifying them that on December 15 they will owe to the United States treasury $630,122,354.35. Of that total $154,729,976 is in principal and interest payments becoming due on that date, and the remainder represents unpaid arrears.

The debtors are to be dunned as follows:
Great Britain $379,461,776
France 163,616,843
Italy 30,570,196
Poland 22,972,909
Belgium 21,628,360
Czechoslovakia 6,118,514
Rumania 2,346,250
Latvia 642,028
Lithuania 490,501
Estonia 1,844,185
Hungary 202,249
Finland 228,536

Amounts falling due on December 15 are:
Great Britain $117,670,765
Italy 2,141,593
Belgium 3,109,453
Czechoslovakia 1,682,812
Estonia 531,350
Finland 228,538
France 22,308,312
Hungary 50,210
Latvia 220,683
Lithuania 121,496
Poland 6,616,309
Rumania 48,750

Finland Only Nation To Pay

Only Finland has met promptly its wartime obligations by making principal and interest payments on the semi-annual due dates in the past and only Finland is expected by treasury and state department officials to forward its check for $228,538 next month.

No other nation has as yet informed the United States what action it will take, but in view of their past records and press reports within the last few days, none except Finland is expected to make payments falling due.

To Float Loan In U. S.

The prompt Finns gave another object lesson to defaulting debtor nations Tuesday when the Finnish government made formal application to the securities and exchange commission to register $10,000,000 in 4 per cent sinking fund serial notes for sale in the United States.

Provisions of the Johnson act make it impossible for any nation in default in its debt to the United States government to float loans or issue bonds in this country. Finland is the first nation to take advantage of its A-1 financial rating—resulting from its prompt payments—to obtain financial assistance here.

Family of Missing Philadelphian Think His Abductors Killed Him.

Philadelphia, Nov. 21 (AP).—Two weeks without word from the reputed kidnappers of William Weiss, missing night life character reportedly held for $100,000 ransom, led his family to fear he was slain and caused federal agents to intensify their search Tuesday night.

Sixteen crack agents of the department of justice sought out the haunts and hideouts of Philadelphia's underworld figures after J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the bureau of investigation, said at Washington it was an underworld case and he would take charge of it personally.

Fifty men, including the noted "roving squad," led by Melvin Purvis, are ready to join the hunt unless Weiss is found within a few days, local officials said.

Last Contact November 6

Weiss, federal agents said, vanished the night of October 26, but they were notified only last Sunday night. The last contact of the family with the reputed kidnappers was on November 6, agents said, when a gruff-voiced man asked the missing man's wife, by telephone, if she "got the letter?"

When she answered in the negative the receiver was hung up. A letter which the family believes was written by Weiss but was mis-addressed arrived one week later, November 13.

It purportedly contained instructions for delivery of the $100,000 ransom and was the last the family heard from either Weiss or his kidnappers.

There was no confirmation of a report that Mrs. Weiss had paid $25,000 in a futile effort to effect her husband's release. At her home she had "nothing to say."

Abduction Near Home

Government agents disclosed what they said are the circumstances of Weiss' abduction as described by members of the household.

He drove up to his home about 11 p. m. October 26 in his large sedan and tooted the horn twice to signal his arrival. Mrs. Weiss was in the house with the three children and Mrs. Johnson, employed as a nurse for the youngest child. Mrs. Johnson was in an upstairs room when Weiss pulled into the driveway and turned his car around to back into the garage.

At that moment an automobile appeared in the driveway. Three men jumped out, forced Weiss into their car and drove away.

When Mrs. Johnson rushed to the first floor and found he had not entered the house she said, "Well, they must have got him, then."

JAPS REFUSE
PEACE TREATY

Tokyo Delegation Demands Naval Equality With Britain And U. S.

FEAR COLLAPSE OF NAVAL TALKS

(Copyright, 1934, By A. P.)
London, Nov. 21.—Japan will decline to enter any separate agreement guaranteeing peace in the Pacific and the integrity of China if there is no new naval treaty, it was learned Tuesday night.

A pact to that effect was proposed by the British to save the principles of the nine-power and four-power treaties should they be junked. This would occur if no naval agreement was made to replace the Washington and London treaties, which Japan intends to denounce. The Japanese delegates to tri-power naval conversations here rejected the proposal because, they claimed, it would further complicate the negotiations which are at an impasse because of Japan's insistence on equality in naval armament.

Breakdown Now Predicted

It was learned the Japanese did not say they would not discuss some agreement to guarantee China's integrity and the peace of the Pacific at some future time, nor did they say the nine-power and four-power pacts would be junked. Naval and diplomatic circles Tuesday forecast early breakdown of tri-power naval conversations here.

The prediction came as America's delegates, Norman H. Davis and Admiral William H. Standley, sat back waiting for Great Britain or Japan to make the next move to end the present impasse, resulting from Japan's insistence that she be allowed equality in naval armaments.

Serious Consequences Feared

Consequences of the breakdown, observers said, might be serious. They listed these possibilities: The negotiations might be adjourned until prospects for agreement are brighter.

One or more of the participating powers might start hurried building up of its naval strength at the end of 1936, the effective date of Japan's expected denunciation of the Washington treaty.

Early Showdown Expected

An early showdown, at any rate, was considered probable, with the British faced with the problem of making new compromise proposals or asking the Japanese to reconsider their refusal of previous proposals, which embodied equality for Japan in principle but not in fact.

A new naval treaty, the object of the conversations here, must recognize full equality for Japan, the Tokyo representatives have maintained.

Various rumors, all of them false, kept the three delegations busy answering questions Tuesday.

Japanese Reiterate Position

Some of the reports were traced to Sir John Simon's interview with the British press Monday, in which some believed the foreign minister said Japan in conversations during recent weeks had conceded British superiority on the high seas while asking equality with the United States.

Ambassador Tsuneo Matsudaira, who with Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto, represents Japan, told Sir John, however, that Japan must be granted full equality with both powers or else she will take equality by her own action.

The Japanese emphatically reiterated that position Tuesday.

TWO VIEWS OF A MAN

We have heard that men admired him
For his courage as a fighter
And the way, when burdens tired him,
He could grip them all the tighter.
For they paid such tributes to him
Which the outside world must render.
But the ones who loved him knew him
As a man whose heart was tender.

In the way men judge each other
Where the inner life is crusted
With the cares that fret and bother
He was one who could be trusted.
But they see with partial blindness
Who find only worldly splendor.
New his loved ones miss his kindness
And his great heart, warm and tender.

Strange it seems that others raised him
To their topmost heights of glory.
But the deeds for which they praised him
Tell but partially the story.
For to those who loved him dearly
And to loneliness surrender.
He was more than honest merely.
He was patient, kind and tender.

Bendersville Bank Secures Depository

Within the next week, the Bendersville National bank will install a night depository for the convenience of its customers, officials of the bank announced today.

The depository, which was purchased at a cost of $700 from the York Safe and Lock company, is modern in design and is fire and burglar proof. It will be placed in the front of the building.

The Bendersville bank, in announcing the improvement, becomes the first institution in the upper Adams county district to offer its patrons the new service.

The decision to install a depository was made by officials of the bank in accordance and in keeping with the demands of its patrons. An official said that in the past many of its customers have been inconvenienced when they wanted to deposit their monies at hours when the bank was not open. It was then necessary for them to hunt either an officer or a bank director to put their money in safe keeping. The depository is expected to remedy this situation.

Lloyd W. Kuhn, who recently completed a term as president of the Adams County Bankers' association, is cashier of the bank.

Try Hot Cider With Spices in Winter Time

A bit of old England has been transferred to an upper Adams county section during the last several weeks with the introduction of a new drink.

The drink, which is known as an "old English hunting punch," is made by mixing hot cider with cloves and cinnamon. It is used by sportsmen who return from the hunt in need of a "warming" beverage.

This correspondent can vouch for the warming qualities of the "treated" cider as he tasted it for the first time recently on a cold morning. Frederic Griest, Jr., was heating the cider over a coal oil stove in one of the buildings on the Griest farm, north of Biglerville, and

Turkey Supply Is Low, Reports Show

Many families this year will have to substitute chickens, guineas, pheasants or some other kind of meat for their Thanksgiving dinners if reports that the turkey supply is below normal are true.

At the Dan Hoffman farm, in Pleasant Valley a member of the family said that their supply of turkeys this year would hardly be over 100 birds. In average years the Hoffmans raise more than 250 turkeys. The scarcity this season is laid to the extreme wet weather of late August and early September.

Other prominent turkey raisers in the Pleasant Valley section are George Culp and Ralph Beamer.

Census to Show Pa. Farming Trends

Trends in the farming industry in Pennsylvania since the beginning of the industrial depression in 1930 will be shown by the 1935 census of agriculture, plans for which are being made, according to the federal bureau of the census.

The actual enumeration will begin January 2 and will be continued until every farm in the commonwealth has been accounted for.

This census, which is regarded as the most important in the history of agriculture in this country, will include the name and address of the farm operator; farm tenure; farm acreage, which includes all crop land, all pasture land, and all farm woodland; the total value of the farm; the acreage and yield of each of the principal field crops and vegetables; the number of trees and yield of each of the principal fruits; the number and value of each class of livestock; poultry and eggs; and farm population.

A sample copy of the general farm schedule can be secured by writing to the Bureau of the Census in Washington, D. C.

Change in Payment Of Tax Announced

A change in the farmers' responsibility for the payment of the processing tax when he sells pork products to commercial handlers, has been announced by the Agriculture Adjustment administration.

Under the original interpretation, the actual killing of the hogs for sale or exchange was interpreted as the "first domestic processing" and farmers who killed their own hogs were liable for the tax even though they sold the carcasses to meat dealers. The re-definition transfers to commercial handlers all liability for payment of the processing tax with respect to hog products derived from hogs slaughtered by producers and feeders.

This must not be confused, however, with the practice so common in Pennsylvania, of farmers selling pork and pork products directly to the consumer. In this case, no tax is required to be paid by the producer who slaughters his own hogs and who sells to or exchanges directly with consumers, not more than 300 pounds of the products derived therefrom during any marketing year.

If he sells not more than 1,000 pounds, directly to consumers he is liable for the tax only on the volume sold in excess of the exemption of 300 pounds.

If the producer sells more than 1,000 pounds of the products derived from his own hogs, during any marketing year, he loses this exemption and is liable for the tax on all hogs slaughtered, of which the products were sold direct to consumers.

In determining the total amount of the tax the weight of the products sold are restored to a live-weight basis. The rate of the tax is $2.25 per hundred weight.

More About Turkeys From Federal Service

Interesting information on the condition of the turkey crop in Pennsylvania is contained in a recent survey made by the federal crop reporting service.

Among other things the report states that production is believed to be not more than 90 per cent of the 1933 crop, 50 per cent of which will be ready for the Thanksgiving market, 40 per cent for Christmas and 10 per cent later.

With the exception of a few counties, turkey production in Pennsylv-vania has declined during the past year, the report shows. Low prices and a high mortality rate especially among half grown poults, discouraged turkey growers during the season. Breeders in quite a number of flocks started laying later than usual last spring and hatchability was poor. In some localities wet weather was unfavorable for young turkeys.

The place of the Scripture which he read was this. He was led as a sheep to the slaughter; and like a lamb dumb before his shearers, so openeth he not his mouth:
In his humiliation his judgment was taken away; and who shall declare his generation? for his life is taken from the earth.
And the eunuch answered Philip, and said, I pray thee, of whom speaketh the prophet this?
of himself, or of some other man?
Then Philip opened his mouth,
and began at the same Scripture,
and preached unto him Jesus.
And as they went on their way,
they came unto a certain water;
and the eunuch said, See, here is water; what doth hinder me to be baptized?
And Philip said, If thou believ-est with all thine heart, thou mayest. And he answered and said, I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God.
And he commanded the chariot to stand still; and they went down both into the water, both Philip and the eunuch; and he baptized him.
And when they were come up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip, that the eunuch saw him no more; and he went on his way rejoicing.
But Philip was found at Azotus;
and passing through he preached in all the cities, till he came to Caesarea.

economics in its outlook report recently issued, has the following to say about turkeys:

"The outlook is for higher prices for the turkey crop for 1934 than those received for the 1933 crop.
This should result partly because of a moderately smaller crop and partly because of prospective reduced supplies of other poultry and the higher level of meats and foodstuffs generally. Reports from crop correspondents indicate that the number of turkeys in farm flocks this year for the country as a whole will be about 93 per cent of the large number raised last year.

"Drought conditions in the midwest have apparently reduced the size of the turkey crop in some of the states affected but in others the crop is as large or larger than last year. This latter condition may be due to a lower mortality of the poults because of absence of rain during the critical period of their lives. No definite information is available concerning the number of turkeys raised in large commercial flocks but it appears probable that there has been some decrease but no drastic change in the numbers produced in this way.

The number of poults hatched in commercial hatcheries showed an increase of 22 per cent in 1934 as compared with 1933. This increase doubtless represents a continuance in the trend, which has been in evidence for several years, to purchase baby poults instead of hatching them on the farms.

PATTERN 9199

It's a house frock smart enough to satisfy the newest bride among us and slenderizing enough to flatter
the more mature housewife—
this nicely tailored coat-like dress.
The long sweeping panels, back and front, are as slimming as they are chic—the smartly different bodice closing is one of Fashion's newest ideas, as are the largish buttons with which it is trimmed. And that pretty, round neckline is as young as it can be. Choose a gay plaid or checked cotton fabric for this frock. There's nothing like them to raise our spirits of a grey winter day. And for those who prefer them, long sleeves are included in the pattern.
Pattern 9199 may be ordered only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34 and 36. Size 16 requires 4 yards
36-inch fabric.
Send fifteen cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each
pattern.

I did not kill Osborne

By VICTOR BRIDGES

SYNOPSIS: Although Nicholas Trench, the young sculptor, has been acquitted of the charge of murdering his old schoolfellow Osborne, he feels that the general public may not agree with the verdict. He has gone to see his cousin, Sir Seymour, and Sir Seymour has made it clear that the trial may materially affect Nicholas' prospects. The cousins are not too good friends.

Chapter Six
STORMY INTERVIEW

"What do you mean?" I asked. "Are you suggesting that people still think I'm guilty?"

"No, no," he raised his hand. "I don't go as far as that. I am merely pointing out to you, in your own interest, Nicholas, that if you attempt to resume your former life you must be prepared to encounter a good deal of unpleasantness."

I thought of the young man in the tea shop. "It wouldn't surprise me," I observed. "As Cresswell says, there are always a certain number of fools about who enjoy being malicious."

Seymour moved uncomfortably in his chair. "I am afraid that things are even more difficult than you imagine. It is very painful for me to have to tell you so, but the general attitude amongst—well, amongst people who really matter—is such that any successful career for you in this country will be practically out of the question."

I put down my glass. "Whom are you referring to?" I inquired. "The Prime Minister and the Archbishop of Canterbury?"

"I am speaking in absolute seriousness. I had an interview yesterday with Lord Redland, who, as you know, is chairman of the Royal United Arts. He was very upset about it all, and as considerate as he could possibly be, but he assured me that, in view of the feeling in the club, it was absolutely essential that you should send in your resignation. Otherwise the committee will expel you."

"Indeed!" I said slowly. "And what do you propose to do about it? You put me up; in fact, you insisted upon my joining the place."

He shrugged his shoulders. "My dear Nicholas—what can I do? As a member of the Government, I possess a certain amount of influence, but..."

"But you naturally don't wish to exercise it on behalf of a discredited relation?" I helped myself to a cigarette from a box on the table. "Well, as far as I'm concerned," I added, "the Royal United Arts can go to the devil. I don't care in the least whether they expel me or not. You can tell Redland so, with my compliments."

"It is useless to take that line. The committee have only acted as any responsible public body would have been compelled to do in the circumstances. I have been informed, for instance, on the best authority, that although the design you submitted to the Board of Works was regarded as exceptionally clever, there is not the smallest chance of your being offered the commission. If such a thing were even suggested there would be protests from all over the country."

I laughed a trifle bitterly. "I expect there would," I said. "What the public really appreciate is something like the Albert Memorial."

"I am afraid that it's hardly an occasion for joking," he got up from his chair and walked over to the hearth-rug. "For your own sake I implore you to listen to reason. No one in your position can afford to set himself up against public opinion. I warn you that if you attempt to do so the results will be disastrous. All your respectable friends will cut you, you will get no work, and you will be unable to earn a living. In six months time, when it is too late, you will be cursing yourself for not having accepted my advice."

I looked at him thoughtfully. This outburst of eloquence was so foreign to his character that I couldn't help wondering what lay behind it. "Well, let's hear your advice," I said. "So far you've done nothing but prophesy."

He came back to his former seat. "There is only one thing to be done. You must leave England and make a fresh start in some other country. After all, you are still quite young and abilities such as yours are bound to bring you to the front. Here it would be quite hopeless for you, but in America or France—I am assuming, of course, that you will change your name—I see no reason why you shouldn't build yourself up a most successful career. If you are willing to adopt this suggestion I, for my part, am ready to assist you."

In a sudden illuminating flash I perceived clearly enough what Seymour was driving at. All he really wanted was a definite assurance that I would disappear. Provided I was safely out of the way the scandal and gossip aroused by my trial would soon begin to die down, and in a little while the unfortunate fact that I was first cousin to a rising and ambitious politician would have faded conveniently from the public memory. For a moment I was almost too amused to be angry.

"How do you propose to assist me?" I inquired.

"In the way which will be most useful. I don't know exactly how you are situated, but I should imagine that most of the capital you have will be swallowed up by the costs of your defence. Well, I am not a rich man—far from it—but at the same time I am prepared to act as generously as I can. If you will be sensible enough to do as I suggest I will send Cresswell a cheque for the whole of your legal expenses. The only stipulation I make is that in order to give yourself a fair chance you will—er—abandon the name of Trench and leave England at once."

I fought back a sudden intense longing to kick him round the room.

"You've quite finished?" I inquired pleasantly. "You're sure there's nothing else you want to say?"

He shook his head. "I think that covers everything."

"Well, I don't!" I threw the stump of my cigarette into the fireplace and rose to my feet. "I always thought you were a pompous snob, but I did at least give you credit of imagining that you might have some small traces of decency and courage. I've been dragged into this hideous mess through no fault of my own, and at the very time when I'm most in need of a little help and sympathy, all you can think about is your own blasted convenience." Tomorrow, Nicholas takes his leave in a blaze of fury.

Queen Marie Hopes to Visit U. S.
With King Peter, Her Grandson

(Copyright, 1934, By A. P.)

Belgrade, Nov. 21.—Dowager Queen Marie, of Rumania, hopes to visit the United States again some time soon, bringing her grandson, young King Peter, of Yugoslavia, with her.

Chatting with the Associated Press correspondent Tuesday, the queen said when she visits America next she wishes to travel not as a reigning queen as she did last time but as a private person.

If arrangements can be made with the Yugoslav government, she said, she will take the 11-year-old king with her to enrich his education by travel. The dowager queen plans to start her world tour, in which the United States visit will be included, as soon as she completes the fourth volume of her life.

"One can have so much more fun moving about as an humble mortal, especially in America where democracy is supreme," Marie said.

"As a crowned head your life is hardly your own. So many of your generous and gracious Americans wanted to entertain me last time that I had hardly a moment to myself. From every side they tried literally to snatch me.

"There is such a thing, you know, as killing even a queen with kindness. Although I am 59 years old, I should still like to live a few years more."

THEY ALL GET A LIFT WITH A CAMEL!

BUSINESS GIRL Eve Miller says: "I started to smoke Camels because I appreciate mildness and delicacy of flavor. I found, in addition, that Camels give me a 'lift' when my energy is low—and they never upset my nerves."

EXPLORER Says Captain R. Stuart Murray: "Camels always give me a 'pick-up' in energy when I need it most. And I prefer Camel's flavor above all others!"

DRAFTSMAN: "When get tired, Camels bring back the feeling of ease and mental alertness—that a draftsman needs to continue such exacting work," says Franklin Dominick. "And I smoke Camels constantly whether I'm working or not."
